

THE CLAIM

The brands that win AI answers show up every month.

Semrush calls them the Universal 36. Not the loudest, the most consistent, across 22 industries and 4 platforms.

BRANDS VISIBLE EVERY MONTH OF THE STUDY	Universal 36
INDUSTRIES ANALYSED	22
PLATFORMS TRACKED	4

Semrush AI Visibility Index 2026, 126 million US prompts across 22 industries and 4 platforms.

Presence compounds. Spikes do not.

Visibility in AI answers behaves like an average, not a peak. A strong month does not carry the next one.

Semrush, 89,000 cited LinkedIn URLs, March 2026.

Repetition on one subject is what makes you a source.

STEP 01

Pick one subject you can defend

STEP 02

Publish on it often enough to be indexed repeatedly

STEP 03

Semrush AI Visibility Index 2026. Consistency plus integration beats one-off campaigns.

Weekly is the ceiling, not the target.

2.60%

engagement rate at four to five posts per week. Posting more than seven a week collapses.

AuthoredUp, 3 million posts, March 2025 to February 2026.

Pick a subject, a rhythm and a number.

01 Choose one subject for 90 days

Consistency is what the most visible brands have in common. Change nothing for a quarter, then judge.

02 Post four to five times a week, not more

That is the highest-engagement band and it adds 28% more impressions. Past seven posts a week it collapses.

03 Track citations per subject, monthly

One number per subject, recorded on the same date, is enough to see authority forming or stalling.

THE TAKEAWAY

Name the one subject you will own until December.

Write it down. Everything else in the plan is downstream of that single sentence.

STEP ONE	name the subject
STEP TWO	commit to four posts a week
FOLLOW	for the 90-day review
