

AI Travel Planning Content: The Vertical Nobody Serves Well

Hyper-specific itineraries sell where generic guides embarrass themselves.

Generic AI itineraries lose buyers by dumping obvious landmarks.

Niche itineraries surprise the buyer with real logistics and timing.

One person, one budget, one set of constraints is enough to serve.

The writer's edge is local knowledge the model does not have.

Package the guide first, then offer the completed itinerary service.

Comment "TRAVEL" for the sheet.